

Index

Introduction	pag. 1
Chapter 1. The Silicon Valley and Italy: different patterns for development and high technology innovation	5
1.1 The Silicon Valley in brief: an introduction to a unique environment	7
1.1.1 History	10
1.1.2 Culture and psychology of yhe valley: risk and entrepreneurship	15
1.1.3 Education and Research: the impact of Universities over the Silicon Valley business	23
1.1.4 The Public contribution in the innovation's effort	30
1.1.5 The immigration's phenomenon: the Valley as a magnet for bright brains	37
1.1.6 Capital and new ventures: the equity factor as accelerator	45
1.2 The Italian landscape of technological innovation	52
1.2.1 Hstory and industrial culture in Italy: effect upon innovation	54
1.2.2 The Research and Development in Italy and public policies for innovation: filling the gap	62
1.2.3 University and National Insitutes contribution to industry and innovation	70
1.2.4 How immigration, emigration and "brains movement" affect the intellectual human resources in Italy	75
1.2.5 Private Equity: a source for R&D financing towards innovation	81

Chapter 2. Innovation and technology incubation: the North American model	87
2.1 Introduction: development, innovation fostering and starting-up patterns	87
2.2 The incubation concept in the United States: definitions and business Model	93
2.3 Classification of incubation in the United States	104
2.3.1 No-profit incubators	107
2.3.2 University incubation	109
2.3.3 For-profit incubators	113
2.3.4 Corporate Venture incubation	116
2.4 Incubation history and current situation after the bubble burst	121
Chapter 3. A successful incubator business model: The Enterprise Network of Silicon Valley	131
3.1 Evolution of TEN in 10 years of history: from the early days to today	132
3.2 The Enterprise Network business model: critical success factors	135
3.2.1 The infrastructure and physical services	137
3.2.2 Intangible services and mentoring	144
3.2.3 The technology licensing contribution on enterprises creation	144
3.2.4 The TEN multiple networks: a virtuous circle for innovation	152
3.2.5 Academic bridge	158
3.2.6 The financial side of running an incubator	160

3.3 Signs of success: graduates' history and new strategies for the future	164
Appendix A	169
Chapter 4. Incubatio in Italy: pursuing a technological revolution	191
4.1 Introduction: the state of incubation's activity in Italy	191
4.2 Public incubation	193
4.2.1 No profit incubation: the Business Innovation Centers	199
4.2.2 Science and Technology Parks: a local innovation network	207
4.2.3 University incubation	213
4.3 Private incubation: the profit-oriented model	219
4.4 An analysis of the Italian incubation: is it really effective in technology fostering?	228
Appendix B	235
Conclusions	237
References	249